

INTRODUCTION LETTER FOR BACK2SCHOOL RESOURCES

Every year, one in five children receives an unwanted sexual solicitation online.¹ If you're an adult who works with kids, you're on the front lines when it comes to keeping them safe. #Back2School with Know2Protect — a national effort to combat online child sexual exploitation and abuse (CSEA) — has you covered with valuable internet safety resources that can help you protect the kids in your care.

Download our free resources at dhs.gov/know2protect/campaign-resources, which include:

Resources2Educate

Such as our short training videos from Project iGuardian®, the educational program of Know2Protect, Tips2Identify Exploitation and Abuse for Educators and other tips for kids, teens and parents to stay safe online and identify fake profiles.

Resources2Send Home

Such as the Know2Protect First Day of School Picture Sign, a sample Family Online Safety Agreement and an Internet Safety Checklist to prompt families to think about online safety at home.

Activities for the Classroom

Such as 10 Minutes2Protect activity using the Tips2Protect for Teens, Crossword Puzzle, Word Search, All-Out Bingo, Project iGuardian Coloring Pages and Project iGuardian Avatars.

Resources2Display in Your School

Such as digital and printable posters and tipsheets to display in classrooms, hallways and more.

You can also book a free in-person or virtual training for your school, your after-school program, a teacher/staff lunch-and-learn or PTA. To learn more, visit dhs.gov/know2protect/training.
