Introduction

The Blue Campaign is the unified voice for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) efforts to combat human trafficking. Working in collaboration with law enforcement, government, non-governmental and private organizations, the Blue Campaign strives to protect the basic right of freedom and to bring those who exploit human lives to justice.

Through the Blue Campaign, DHS raises public awareness about human trafficking, leveraging partnerships to educate the public to recognize human trafficking and report suspected instances. The Blue Campaign also offers training to law enforcement and others to increase detection and investigation of human trafficking, and to protect victims and bring suspected traffickers to justice.

DHS is responsible for investigating human trafficking, arresting traffickers, and protecting victims. DHS also provides immigration relief to non-U.S. citizen victims of human trafficking. DHS utilizes a victim-centered approach to combat human trafficking, which places equal value on identifying and stabilizing victims and on investigating and prosecuting traffickers. Victims are crucial to investigations and prosecutions; each case and every conviction changes lives. DHS understands how difficult it can be for victims to come forward and work with law enforcement due to their trauma. DHS is committed to helping victims feel stable, safe, and secure.

The Blue Campaign is not an appropriated office and does not receive annual appropriated funding. Currently the Blue Campaign receives donated funding on an annual basis from DHS components to fund efforts to fight end human trafficking. Since the Blue Campaign does not have any control over the funds available for donation from each component at the end of each fiscal year. Due to this limitation, all translations and material development costs are subject to availability of funds.

LEP Policy Statement

The Office (Blue Campaign) confirms its commitment to following the DHS Policy on Language Access:

It is the policy of DHS to provide meaningful access for individuals with limited English proficiency to operations, services, activities, and programs that support each Homeland Security mission area by providing quality language assistance services in a timely manner. DHS Components, therefore, should incorporate language access considerations into their routine strategic and business planning, identify and translate crucial documents into the most frequently encountered languages, provide interpretive services where appropriate, and educate personnel about language access responsibilities and how to utilize available language access resources. (DHS Language Access Plan, February 2012)

All employees (to include detailed employees) of Blue Campaign are covered by this Plan.

Public: The Language Access Policy Statement and the Language Access Plan will be posted to Blue Campaign's external website (<http://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign>), linked to relevant translated materials, and disseminated to Blue Campaign stakeholders electronically, in an accessible format that is Section 508 compliant.

Internal: The Language Access Policy Statement and the Language Access Plan will be posted to Blue Campaign's internal website and disseminated to all employees. The Department of Homeland Security Language Access Plan was distributed to the workforce through the then Acting Chief of Mission Support, and will be included in all new employee training materials.

Through the Blue Campaign, DHS raises public awareness about human trafficking, leveraging partnerships to educate the public to recognize human trafficking and report suspected instances. The Blue Campaign also offers training to law enforcement and others to increase detection and investigation of human trafficking, and to protect victims and bring suspected traffickers to justice.

The Blue Campaign produces educational and outreach materials in multiple languages and makes these translated materials publicly available on its website or via print request through the Blue Campaign. Incorporation of language access considerations into Blue Campaign strategies and business objectives will be reviewed periodically in accordance with the Blue Campaign Language Access Plan.

The Blue Campaign shares information with stakeholders, employees, industry stakeholders, other federal agencies and the general public on a daily basis via the web, translated info-graphic materials (signage, flyers, etc.), video, and social media (including the DHS Blog, Facebook, and if acquired, Twitter and Instagram).

Responsible Personnel/Offices and Oversight

The Blue Campaign Staff will be responsible for coordinating and implementing LEP plan activities.

These staff members may include the following:

- I. Blue Campaign Chairperson
- II. Blue Campaign Chief of Staff
- III. Blue Campaign Budget & Management Senior Advisor
- IV. Blue Campaign External Engagement Senior Advisor
- V. Blue Campaign Media & Marketing Senior Advisor
- VI. Blue Campaign Policy & Strategy Senior Advisor

Component Interactions with the Public

The Blue Campaign regularly interacts with the public. The Blue Campaign is the unified voice for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) efforts to combat human trafficking. Working in collaboration with law enforcement, government, non-governmental and private organizations, the Blue Campaign holds in person meetings, bi-yearly stakeholder events, and trainings. The Blue Campaign also distributes material to individuals, organizations, and other government agencies, as well as mass media placement in public locations (airports, gas stations, etc.). DHS and its components coordinate and unite our efforts to combat human trafficking under the Blue Campaign:

- Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Homeland Security Investigations (HSI) investigates international and domestic cases of human trafficking and provides support to victims. ICE accomplishes this mission by making full use of its authorities and expertise, stripping away the traffickers' assets and profit incentives, collaborating with U.S. and foreign partners to attack networks worldwide, and working in partnership with non-governmental organizations to identify, rescue, and provide assistance to trafficking victims. ICE HSI victim assistance specialists assess a victim's needs and work with law enforcement agents to integrate victim assistance considerations throughout a criminal investigation. During case investigations, victim assistance specialists assess a victim's needs and work with law enforcement agents to integrate victim assistance considerations throughout a criminal investigation. ICE HSI can also assist a victim in getting a short-term immigration relief called Continued Presence, which is available only upon request by law enforcement. In the absence of other resources, DHS has an emergency assistance fund which is available for emergency victim assistance needs.
- U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) helps protect victims of human trafficking and other crimes by providing immigration relief. Two types of immigration relief for victims of human trafficking and other crimes are available through USCIS: T Nonimmigrant Status (T Visa) and U Nonimmigrant Status (U Visa).

- U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) focus is to prevent human trafficking and identify victims of human trafficking along our nation’s borders and at our ports of entry. With more than 42,000 frontline CBP officers and Border Patrol agents protecting nearly 7,000 miles of land border and 327 ports of entry—including official crossings by land, air, and sea—CBP is uniquely situated to deter and disrupt human trafficking.
- Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) provides career-long training to law enforcement professionals on how to identify indicators of human trafficking, immigration options available for potential trafficking victims, and how to conduct human trafficking investigations. FLETC developed a web-based human trafficking training course that teaches officers how to recognize human trafficking encountered during routine duties, how to protect victims, and how to initiate human trafficking investigations.

Current Language Access Activities

Language Access projects that have been implemented are as follows: To date, the Blue Campaign has the following material available in the following languages (see Appendix 1 for the full list of products available in each language):

- Law Enforcement Training Video Preview
- Combating human trafficking message (video) from Deputy Secretary Mayorkas
- The Blue Campaign has presented and conducted presentations in Spanish for stakeholders that are not proficient in English.

Language Access Projects that are currently in process:

- The Blue Campaign is expanding the translation of outreach materials into Spanish (posters) and additional languages based on stakeholder and partner feedback.
- The Blue Campaign is reviewing all material currently existing for 508 Compliance. Once all material has been vetted and approved, it will be uploaded onto the Blue Campaign resource website (<http://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign/share-resources>). Stakeholders will be notified of the updated and available material for download, distribution, and hard copy requests.
- The Blue Campaign will review outreach materials and other Blue Campaign policy materials for quality improvement and review purposes.
- The Blue Campaign will continue to track trends in data related to LEP stakeholders who contact the office, seek assistance, seek partnership and attend stakeholder events.
- The Blue Campaign will continue to assist customers in overcoming potential language barriers as needed and will share information about free or pro bono translation resources in response to LEP inquiries when Blue Campaign translation services are unavailable.

LEP Communities Served or Encountered

The determination for material translation was initially chosen by the critical areas vulnerable to human trafficking, which was determined by the State Department. Based on this list, the Blue Campaign began translating critical material to reflect the industry needs (subject to availability of funds). Below are the top languages requested for Blue Campaign materials:

1. English
2. Spanish,
3. Chinese (simplified)
4. Chinese (traditional)
5. Thai
6. Vietnamese

7. Malay
8. Russian
9. Indonesian
10. Portuguese
11. Korean
12. French Creole
13. Hindi
14. Arabic

Tracking

The Blue Campaign will track material requests by language to obtain critical data such as (1) the demand each language available per material type, (2) the demand for each language not available per material type, (3) frequency of request for each language available per material type, and (4) frequency of request for each language not available per material type. The information gathered can then be used to track metrics for the Blue Campaign on language needs and trends.

In the future, once the Blue Campaign has uploaded all material to the website, the number of clicks on each translated material can be tracked for frequency of visits. The Blue Campaign has also proposed to develop an order form to streamline material requests on the website. Once developed, the Blue Campaign will also include a feedback section from a requester on other languages they would like to see material translated to. This will help to identify a gap in material not currently translated by the Blue Campaign.

All information will be tracked on a spreadsheet and stored in the Blue Campaigns' share drive for staff access and available. The information will also be rolled into the overall metrics for the Blue Campaign, which is still in development in the Strategic Plan.

Prioritization

The Blue Campaign is working on the following planned activities to improve language access. Since the Blue Campaign is not an appropriated office, all projects are subject to availability of funds.

- The Blue Campaign will track material requests by language to obtain critical data such as (1) the demand each language available per material type, (2) the demand for each language not available per material type, (3) frequency of request for each language available per material type, and (4) frequency of request for each language not available per material type. The information gathered can then be used to track metrics for the Blue Campaign on language needs and trends.
- The Blue Campaign is currently reviewing all material currently existing for 508 Compliance. Once all material has been vetted and approved, they will be uploaded onto the Blue Campaign resource website (<http://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign/share-resources>). Stakeholders will be notified of the updated and available material for download, distribution, and hard copy requests.

- A new material request form will be developed to streamline this process. The Blue Campaign will also include a feedback section from a requester on other languages they would like to see material translated to. This will help to identify a gap in material not currently translated by the Blue Campaign.
- The Blue Campaign will track the number of clicks on each translated materials loaded on the resource section of the Blue Campaign website.
- The Blue campaign will expand public engagement focused on LEP communities and request feedback on material and language needs for human trafficking vulnerable populations.

Language Access Procedures/Protocols

The Blue Campaign will continue to request feedback and identify gaps in material or other LEP needs. The procedures or protocols that staff should follow to provide language services to LEP persons encountered in their daily activities will include:

- Recognizing the LEP status of human trafficking vulnerable populations needs
- Identifying the language spoken
- Identifying situations requiring appropriate language assistance
- Work closely with the DHS Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties (CRCL) to identify gaps in material that need translation.

Work closely with partners, stakeholders, NGOs, and other government agencies knowledgeable of victims vulnerable to human trafficking that need to be reached through the Blue Campaign material.

Employee Duties and Development

Currently, there is no language requirement in any of Blue Campaign's job descriptions (for neither detailees nor permanent staff). Blue Campaign may begin assessing job descriptions after determining where the need for language requirements would be most beneficial, and to develop a strategic plan to address the need, as applicable.

Training

The Blue Campaign will ensure that all of its employees receive training on language access responsibilities. An annual internal training will be a required first step in providing the workforce information on the services available, how to identify a need for the services, and how to provide them to the public. New employees will also receive training on language access responsibilities.

Resources

The Blue Campaign is not an appropriated office and does not receive annual appropriated funding. Currently the Blue Campaign receives donated funding on an annual basis from DHS components to fund efforts to fight end human trafficking. Since the Blue Campaign does not have any control over the funds available for donation from each component at the end of each fiscal year. Due to this limitation, all translations and material development costs are subject to availability of funds.

Notice to LEP Persons

The Blue Campaign provides information to the public on the availability of language services in multiple forms.

- “I Speak poster”: The Blue Campaign "I Speak" poster assists literate individuals who are not proficient in English to identify a preferred language. This poster contains more than 60 languages. Law enforcement officers and others can show the poster to potential victims of human trafficking; the victims can obtain assistance from the Homeland Security Investigations Tip line that is available 24 hours a day with language capability in over 300 languages and dialects. The poster is available on the Blue Campaign website for download in English.
- On the Blue Campaign website, material is identified as (1) available for download in a certain language or (2) request for material in print form from the Blue Campaign in additional languages. Some material on the website specifically identifies the languages available or asks the requester to send an email to the Blue Campaign inbox for material in other languages. Once all Blue Campaign material is confirmed for 508 compliance, all translated material will be posted to the website. For now, users are given the option to send a request for printed material in different languages currently available.

Procedures for Quality Control

The Blue Campaign currently has a contract in place that can be used to translate material on an as needed basis. Since the Blue Campaign is not an appropriated office, translation are subject to availability of funds, as well as other priorities in the contract. The Blue Campaign also works closely with the CRCL to ensure all translations and translation reviews are conducted prior to approval. Since the majority of the Blue Campaign staff is made up of detailees, current job descriptions and roles and responsibilities do not require any language proficiency.

Outreach to LEP Communities

Describe collaboration or engagement with LEP communities and other external stakeholders to assess effectiveness of language services and how LEP communities can support agency efforts to provide language services. Describe any media strategies.

The Blue Campaign works closely with partners, stakeholders, NGOs, and other government agencies knowledgeable of victims vulnerable to human trafficking that need to be reached through the Blue Campaign material. With feedback from subject matter experts in the field, the Blue Campaign is able to obtain critical language gaps in the public that need to be addressed. Per the material request process through the Blue Campaign email address (BlueCampaign@hq.dhs.gov), feedback is periodically provided on languages not currently available at all or for a particular product. The Blue Campaign works closely with Civil Rights Civil Liberty (CRCL) to assist with material translations and reviews.

We encourage stakeholders to contact the Blue Campaign about language access at BlueCampaign@hq.dhs.gov.

Monitoring and Performance Measures

There will be occasional internal surveys to monitor and evaluate the need for additional translation services for the Blue Campaign. The Blue Campaign will also be seeking stakeholder, partner, and public feedback, both positive and negative, as part of efforts to monitor language access.
