Introduction

Independent program evaluations provide vital input to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) as they offer insight to the performance of our programs and identify areas for improvement. These evaluations are used across the Department to look critically at how we conduct operations and to confront some of the key challenges facing the Department.

This Appendix provides, in tabular format, a list of the more significant DHS program evaluations conducted in FY 2012 by the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) and the DHS Office of the Inspector General (OIG). For each report, the report name, report number, date issued, and a link to the publicly released report are provided.

Detailed information on the findings and recommendations of all GAO reports is available at: http://www.gao.gov/browse/a-z/Department of Homeland Security, Executive.

Detailed information on the findings and recommendations of all FY 2012 DHS OIG reports is available at:
