Congress requires DHS' National Operations Center (NOC) "to provide situational awareness and establish a common operating picture for the entire federal government and for state, local, and tribal governments as appropriate, in the event of a natural disaster or terrorist attack and ensure that critical terrorism and disaster-related information reaches government decision-makers." Under this requirement, the NOC monitors social media only for situational awareness purposes during times of crisis, such as a terrorist attack or earthquake.

Background: IP (POD division) compiles an open source report on critical infrastructure which is posted to HSIN. The contract for this service recently changed and the new contractor inappropriately conducted some "analysis" to the open source information (in this case). When it was brought to my attention the report was pulled (other steps have also been taken). However the fed staff undertook a thorough review and every source is traditional media. The report references social media resources but that was found in traditional sources. No monitoring of social media took place.

Congress requires DHS' National Operations Center (NOC) "to provide situational awareness and establish a common operating picture for the entire federal government and for state, local, and tribal governments as appropriate, in the event of a natural disaster or terrorist attack and ensure that critical terrorism and disaster-related information reaches government decision-makers." Under this requirement, the NOC monitors social media only for situational awareness purposes during times of crisis, such as a terrorist attack or earthquake.

Background: IP (POD division) compiles an open source report on critical infrastructure which is posted to HSIN. The contract for this service recently changed and the new contractor inappropriately conducted some "analysis" to the open source information (in this case). When it was brought to my attention the report was pulled (other steps have also been taken). However the fed staff undertook a thorough review and every source is traditional media. Just talked to our chief privacy officer. At the very least they violated the situational awareness pii because these individuals did not have the authority to be looking at social media and drawing conclusions based on that analysis. That is why we changed the language to privacy standards.

Based on his review and facts presented to him at the time, Bill Flynn does not believe the report in fact reflects folks having scoured the OWS twitter feeds or otherwise accessing social media in violation of privacy standards. He is double-checking to confirm.

Definitely think that the more we can push back on any inaccuracies the better.

That said, assuming he isn't going to pull down the blog post, with other similar privacy related issues out there, we need a clear statement that explains that this report was drafted in violation of our privacy standards.

Suzanne and Mike,

Rolling Stone has posted a blog with a link to a document with the DHS seal and nppd/ ip markings that was posted to HSIN without approval. Here is the draft statement I would like to send to opa asap.

Here is the link:

Please let me know if this is ok.

Just talked to our chief privacy officer. At the very least they violated the situational awareness pii because these individuals did not have the authority to be looking at social media and drawing conclusions based on that analysis. That is why we changed the language to privacy standards.

Definitely think that the more we can push back on any inaccuracies the better.

That said, assuming he isn't going to pull down the blog post, with other similar privacy related issues out there, we need a clear statement that explains that this report was drafted in violation of our privacy standards.

I disagree about the nature of the report. First of all, we were pretty adamant about not monitoring OWS, and this makes it appear that was false. Since we didn't approve of this, and removed it from the site, I think we should distance ourselves from this.

Dear Sir:

Hope this email finds you well. I'm doing a story about a DHS report called "SPECIAL COVERAGE: Occupy Wall Street" written in October 2011. Stratfor, the private intelligence firm, was in possession of this report. The report states: "The growing support for the OWS movement has expanded the protests impact and increased the potential for violence," among other things.

- 1) Do you have any comment on this? The report indicates that DHS views the Occupy Wall Street movement as a threat to homeland security.
- 2) What actions did DHS take to respond to this threat?
- 3) Did DHS, at a federal level, help local authorities coordinate its response to OWS?
- 4) What other kinds of monitoring did DHS do on the Occupy Wall Street movement?

Please let me know your thoughts if you have a moment. I'm at 212-945-8073 or 802-864-3142.

All the best, and thanks,

(b) (6) Laurel,

We are preparing to publish our membership magazine, Flightlog, and would like to run an article on the Blue Lightning campaign. We could run something similar to the article that appeared in our e-newsletter below. Is there any new information that we might add at this point in time? Also, are you still interested in input from our AFA Air Safety, Health and Security Department on the training video for Flight Attendants? I would very much like to mention this collaboration in the article, if possible. Thank you for all of your important work.

Susanne

Susanne Lowen

6,700 Flight Attendants participated in the voting process. They sent an unequivocal message that their sacrifices must be recognized and that they will participate in the benefits of the merger. After five years of stalling and road blocks by management, the Joint Negotiating Committee (JNC) delivered a tentative agreement that gave members a chance to voice their position directly to management. AFA leadership will meet next week to set in motion a plan that maximizes the leverage created by an engaged, unified work force.

Press Release

Mesaba

Pinnacle Airlines, which merged with Mesaba Airlines in January, filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy reorganization. As the certified representative for Mesaba Flight Attendants, AFA will use its standing to participate in the bankruptcy process and ensure that the Flight Attendants' rights are protected throughout Pinnacle's restructuring.

Press Release

Spirit

On March 9, Spirit Flight Attendants officially asked the NMB to declare that negotiations are at an impasse and requested a proffer of arbitration, a step required by the Railway Labor Act prior to a 30-day "cooling off" period. This period leads to a strike deadline which often encourages focused negotiations. In October, Spirit Flight Attendants overwhelmingly authorized a strike by 98.4 percent should management fail to negotiate a new contract. With AFA's trademarked strike strategy, CHAOS™ or Create Havoc Around Our System™, a strike can affect the entire system or a single flight. The union decides when, where and how to strike without notice to management or passengers.

Press Release

American Eagle

American Airlines' bankruptcy is affecting the American Eagle Flight Attendants and their negotiations. American Eagle Flight Attendants are outraged that, under the cloak of bankruptcy, management is attacking their contract even though American Eagle is a profitable subsidiary of AMR. Just prior to the AMR bankruptcy filing, American Eagle Flight Attendants were negotiating for a new contract and management had already agreed to significant quality of life improvements. AFA continues to vigorously oppose unnecessary concessions and is working to minimize the impact of Chapter 11 on Flight Attendants.

Be a 'Force Multiplier' in the Fight Against Human Trafficking

Within a global struggle to combat a problem of epidemic proportions, Flight Attendants can play a key role in the fight against human trafficking. In a recent meeting between AFA International President Veda Shook and Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Secretary Janet Napolitano concerning aviation security issues, Secretary Napolitano invited AFA to participate in an initiative to involve aviation employees in the fight against human trafficking. The DHS Customs and Border Protection's "Blue Lightning" initiative provides a voluntary mechanism to identify potential human trafficking victims and to notify federal authorities for front line workers at U.S. commercial airlines that operate U.S.-bound international routes.

"We like to talk about 'boots on the ground'," said Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Acting Commissioner David V. Aguilar. "Flight Attendants and airline employees will be the 'boots in the air' fighting human trafficking." Human trafficking is a modern-day form of slavery. It is defined as:

- the recruitment, harboring, transport, provision or obtaining of a person by force, fraud, or coercion for the purpose of involuntary servitude, peonage, debt bondage, or slavery; or
- Sex trafficking, in which a commercial sex act is induced by force fraud or coercion—or the person induced to perform such acts is under age 18.

It is estimated that at least 12.3 million adults and children are enslaved around the world and that 56 percent are women and girls. The International Labor Organization (ILO) estimated that in 2005, 980,000 to 1,225,000 boys and girls were in forced labor situations as a result of trafficking. In 2000, Congress passed the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act, which launched a large-scale effort by the U.S. government to fight human trafficking.

In 2010, Secretary Napolitano launched the Blue Campaign – a first-of-its-kind initiative to coordinate and enhance the Department's anti-human trafficking efforts. The components of the Department of Homeland Security combat human trafficking through a variety of programs, and the Blue Campaign coordinates and unites this work.

The 'Blue Lightning Initiative' is coordinated as part of the Blue Campaign by CBP in collaboration with the Department of Transportation. The key to the success of this initiative, however, is the participation of the frontline workers in the airline industry.

As Flight Attendants, we are uniquely positioned to identify human traffickers and assist their victims. Flight crews are skilled observers, and with the appropriate training, they can be the frontline against trafficking, according to CBP. Indicators of human trafficking can include: physical control of travel documents of an adult traveler by a co-traveler; restricting the movement and social interaction of an adult traveler by a co-traveler; an adult traveler who is unclear on details of his/her final destination or point of contact; or a child traveler who appears to be accompanied by someone claiming to be the parent or guardian who is in fact not related to the child. Daily Caller: Homeland Security official tweets socialist applause: 'Happy May Day!'

-Matthew Boyle

May 1

A staffer for President Barack Obama's Department of Homeland Security is praising the left-wing "May Day" protests. On Tuesday evening, Nate Snyder, the special adviser to Homeland Security Secretary Janet Napolitano for "Community Partnership and Strategic Engagement," tweeted "Happy May Day! #solidarity."

Snyder has his his current Homeland Security post since March 2011, according to his LinkedIn page. He was previously the department's Deputy White House Liaison. Before joining the Obama administration, Snyder worked for the Service Employees International Union, and for Obama's 2008 presidential campaign.

May Day is a day on which socialist party faithful and labor unions have traditionally held massive anti-capitalist protests, and on Tuesday some liberal organizers used the occasion to rekindle the Occupy Wall Street movement's flames.

After a winter during which the Occupy movement appeared to have died off, organizers are trying to give it new life this spring by holding protests alongside traditional May Day protests.

This week Occupy organizers have been tied to sending letters containing white powder to executives at News Corporation — the parent company of Fox News and The Wall Street Journal — and Citicorp.

There have also been suspicions — despite vehement denials from movement leaders — that Occupy activists were involved in a failed plot to blow up a bridge in Cleveland, Ohio. FBI agents foiled the alleged plot by inserting an informant into the gang, and arrested five suspects on Tuesday.

Congress requires DHS' National Operations Center (NOC) "to provide situational awareness and establish a common operating picture for the entire federal government and for state, local, and tribal governments as appropriate, in the event of a natural disaster or terrorist attack and ensure that critical terrorism and disaster-related information reaches government decision-makers." Under this requirement, the NOC monitors social media only for situational awareness purposes during times of crisis, such as a terrorist attack or earthquake.

Have we used this statement yet?
There is still considerable angst over here about this so if we end up not using it that would be a good thing.
Please keep me and (b) (6) posted.
Thanks.

Sorry to keep coming back to this, but do we plan to provide the BACKGROUND part of the statement only if it is responsive to a particular question about when DHS engages in social media monitoring? If we provide it in response to general questions about the report, I think it will create confusion. The NOC had nothing to do with this report.

Occupy Wall Street activists are up in arms over a new report describing Homeland Security officials monitoring Occupy demonstrations, but a closer look reveals much ado about nothing.

The government paranoia machine took off last night after Rolling Stone contributor Michael Hastings published an exclusive on e-mails obtained from the global intelligence firm Stratfor via WikiLeaks. In his ominous appraisal of a Department of Homeland Security document, he notes that DHS officials read "OWS-related Twitter feeds" and other "publicly available sources" to keep tabs on the movement. "The government has a long and disturbing history of justifying the curtailing of civil liberties under the cover of perceived, and often manufactured, threats," he wrote. The article passed quickly through the Occupy information bloodstream.

"The DHS document appears to be more concerned with protecting the mechanisms of the financial sector than in ensuring the safety of citizens who are exercising their First Amendment rights," wrote Allison Kilkenny in Truthout. "The suppression of Occupy is nothing less than an attack on those who would try to exercise their civil liberties, their rights and seek to energize democracy," wrote Fire Dog Lake's Kevin Gosztola. The article was re-blogged across scores of Occupy tumblers including Anticapitalist, Occupy All Streets and #Occupy Wall Street.

On Current TV last night, host Cenk Uygur blasted the agency for focusing exclusively on Occupy Wall Street. "The Tea Party... that happens to be pro-corporate America is not anywhere to be found here [but] when Occupy Wall Street is not pro-corporate America, all of a sudden, they need to be investigated by the Department of Homeland Security." Of course, the Tea Party has also been observed by DHS but that's beside the point.

Is DHS really curtailing the rights of Occupiers? Outside of reading newspapers and Twitter about Occupy events, the report is merely a summary of the movement and an assessment of what dangers it may pose. As one line reads:

"Mass gatherings associated with public protest movements can have disruptive effects on transportation, commercial, and government services, especially when staged in major metropolitan areas. Large scale demonstrations also carry the potential for violence, presenting a significant challenge for law enforcement."

I just received this link from a colleague at I&A. Apparently NPPD drafted a report on OWS that has now been leaked on wikileaks. The link is to the article not to wikileaks. Also, I have attached the 5-page report to which RS refers.

Obviously, this did not come before PRIV for review as it is a NPPD product. I&A is not very happy (me too) after all that we did to make sure I&A and the fusion centers didn't create any reports like this.
